CNPA – Local Development Plan 2020 – Main Issues

CNPA's Big Questions – Comments by DAL

Main Issue 6 Economic Development

Question: Do you agree that the new Local Development Plan should identify a limited number of new economic development sites?

The question seeks a Yes/No answer – but our concern relates to the use of the term “limited”. The CNPA should never limit its ambitions re economic development.

The question should simply set out –

....identify a number of new oridentify a sufficient number of new

Use of the term “limited” is pandering to the conservation lobby. Some would even say that it shows a real fear of the conservation lobby.

Economic development is the life-blood of the National Park and especially the residents of the Park; and, of course, there should be new economic development sites identified for the Local Development Plan. How many new sites? Sufficient. Sufficient to meet all the known and the expected demands / requests, and extra over and above that.

David Watson, the CNPA's Manager for Economic Development, will know all that is required – and he should guide the Local Development Plan on this matter.
